

S. Thomas's

Hospital.

ALBERT EMBANKMENT,
LONDON, S.E.
1901

Nurse Lillian Roberts entered
S. Thomas' Hospital Training School in June 1897.

During her four years training she has had excellent experience in Medical & Surgical Nursing both as Staff Nurse and in the care of Special Cases.

She has also had varied experience of Infectious Nursing, viz. Scarlet Fever,

Measles, Diphtheria and Enteric Fever, and has been for a considerable time in the Obstetric Ward taking Staff Nurse duty.

Nurse Roberts has had the advantage of attending operations, and Nursing the Paying Patients in S. Thomas' Home for several months: she is very painstaking, and thoughtful for her patients conyon: Kind and considerate and thoroughly competent.

L. M. Gordon
Matron & V. Supt. of Nurses

Nurse Lillian Roberts entered Saint Thomas's Hospital Training School in June 1897.

During her four years training she has had excellent experiences in medical and surgical nursing both as staff nurse and in the care of special cases.

She has also had varied experience of infections nursing in Scarlet Fever, Measles, Diphtheria and Enteric Fever, and has been for considerable time in the Obstetric Ward taking Staff Nurse duty.

Nurse Roberts has had the advantage of attending operations and nursing the Paying Patients in Saint Thomas's Home for several months: she is very painstaking, and thoughtful for her patient's comfort; kind and considerate and thoroughly competent.

L. M. Gordon.

Matron and Superintendent of Nurses